GUNBOATS LEAVE TAMPICO

Dispatches From Admiral Mayo Announces That Mexican Federal War Vessels Have Left the Panuco River and Steamed Southward—Three American Ships Are Watching Their Movements.

Washington, May 15.—A relayed wireless dispatch from Rear Admiral Mayo at Tampico announced that the Mexican federal gunboats Bravo and Zaragoza, one of them towing the tug Tampico, had left the Panuco river and steamed southward. They were followed by the American cruiser Tacoma and the destroyers Warrington and Henley.

Washington, May 15.—Tampico's fall, considerably enlarging the Constitutionalists' sphere of control and giving them a seaport through which munitions of war may be imported, injected into the Mexican situation several new phases to occupy the attention of official Washington.

The American government already has begun representations to the Constitutionalists to procure protection for the American and other foreign operatives returning to the oil wells. American warships have gone up the Panuco river to their old stations before the town and a return of normal conditions is expected by officials here.

Discussion centered chiefly upon shipping arms and ammunition through Tampico. The Constitutionalists are short of ammunition and are certain to avail themselves of their first seaport to ship war supplies into the interior for the campaign against Mexico City.

The American government has never made a clear definition of its policy toward shipments of arms into Mexico from countries other than the United States. Arms were prevented from reaching Huerta through Vera Cruz, because the customs house there was seized by the American forces as an act of reprisal.

The belief was general here that the Constitutionalists would have no difficulty in importing munitions through Tampico in any quantity.

REBELS MOVE ON SALTILLO

General Villa Confident of Taking Federal City.

Torreon, Mex., May 15.—General Francisco Villa, in command of the Constitutional army now moving against Saltillo, before his departure said that he is prepared to meet any situation which may arise. His army is provisioned for thirty days and he has enough ammunition.

That Saltillo will be taken is confidently believed by the Constitutionalists here, although apparently the federalists have most of the advantages.

With Saltillo in the hands of the Constitutionalists it is thought here the Huerta government will have lost all claim of control of the greater half of Mexico. The federalists must then retire upon San Luis Potosi, making it possible for the government of the north to concentrate its troops upon that point without fear of being outflanked.

FEDERALS IN BAD PLIGHT

Former Tampico Garrison May Be Cut to Pieces.

Vera Cruz, May 15.—The plight of the federalists under Zaragosa, who are retreating in the direction of San Luis Potosi, is considered by those who know the country as extremely serious.

The Constitutionalists have overrun the territory about San Luis Potosi and control a considerable portion of the railroad. Northward toward the federal lines the country is rugged and barren and probably impassable to the weary veterans of Tampico, which has long been under siege.

In Zaragosa's rear are Constitutional forces, ready to press after him. The general belief here is that the little force of federalists will be cut to pieces before it reaches the lines south of San Luis Potosi.

TWO WOMEN KILLED

HUERTA DELEGATES ARRIVE

Reach Key West and Take Train for the North at Once.

Key West, Fla., May 15.—The three peace commissioners, Emilio Rabaza, Augustin Rodriguez and Luis Elguero, appointed by Provisional President Huerta of Mexico to represent his government at the mediation conference on the Mexican situation at Niagara Falls, Ont., arrived here from Havana.

An hour after the steamer docked the commissioners and other members of the party were whirling northward on a train held for their arrival. They made no statement.

S. H. Hanks, representing the American state department, according to advices received here from St. Augustine, is en route from Washington to meet the mediators and to look after their comfort.

WEBBER FLINCHES
AT DEATH REFERENCEMention of Gunmen's Fate Affects State Witness.

New York, May 15.—Counsel for Charles Becker, the former police lieutenant on trial charged with the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, obtained from Bridgie Webber admissions that he had lied to Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty, had said things during his direct examination that if such a vote had been taken it was almost sure that it would have carried in the house of representatives and probably in the senate.

Of course national prohibition is another thing, and members would hesitate to vote for a national measure, although they would be willing to try it on the city of Washington. Besides, it requires a two-thirds vote to pass the Holston resolution, and it is doubtful if any such majority could be obtained.

Controlled His Emotions.

Senator Stone of Missouri has just concluded an elaborate argument in favor of the repeal of free tolls, during which he had discussed at considerable length the Democratic platform. He was followed briefly by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, an old time antagonist, who said, "I know the senator will pardon me if I say that his discussion in regard to the Democratic platform leaves my emotions personally well within control." Lodge is a sedate individual, but occasionally he delves deep and refutes the idea that he is without a sense of humor.

Lane Could Not See It.

During discussion of the agricultural appropriation bill southern men made an earnest plea for the expenditure of money to encourage certain forms of agriculture in the south that have heretofore been neglected. Senator Ransdell of Louisiana had been making an argument showing that the farmers of the south were now beginning to raise products which heretofore they had purchased in the north and west.

Then Senator Lane of Oregon broke in, saying: "We are being asked to furnish the people of the south money with which to put ourselves out of business. They are going to use the money to raise all these things which they now buy of us. I do not see anything profitable in that kind of a trade."

"I thought the senator was a patriot," was the comment of Ransdell.

Boosting Director Harris.

In a recent speech in the house Tom Hefflin of Alabama paid a great tribute to William J. Harris, director of the census. He told all about the good work that Harris has been doing at the head of the census bureau, and his statements brought out frequent applause from the members because they also believed that Harris is doing good work. Incidentally, this boost of the director had some political significance, as Harris is a candidate for Governor of Georgia.

TWO BIG ISSUES
FORCED ON HOUSEMembers Must Record Votes
on Suffrage and Prohibition.

BOTH HAVE SLIM CHANCES.

Judiciary Committee, Tired of Being Termed a "Graveyard," Reported Resolutions, Thus Placing Burden of Rejecting or Accepting Two Vital Measures on Every Member of House.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, May 15.—[Special.]—Many members of congress are much disturbed on account of the agitation which has followed the action of the judiciary committee in reporting the prohibition and woman suffrage amendments. It is still something of a mystery why the judiciary committee took that action, but it may be explained that the members became weary of the constant pressure that was put upon them.

Every member was beset by prohibitionists to take some action which would afford the house an opportunity to pass upon the Hobson resolution. The woman suffragists were equally insistent that their measure should not be smothered.

The judiciary committee became tired of being called the "graveyard" of all legislation of this character, and the members determined to relieve themselves individually of the pressure and let it spread over the entire house.

Keeping Them Together.

It is altogether likely that in case the committee on rules of the house shall decide to bring in a rule allowing the house to consider and vote upon the prohibition resolution, that a similar action will have to be taken on the suffrage resolution. The suffragists have been strong enough to keep their measure abreast of the prohibition resolution and the prohibitionists have been willing to join hands with the suffragists in order to promote federal action on their measure.

The Democratic caucus has decided against considering woman suffrage legislation at this session, and the committee on rules has followed the instructions of the caucus and refused to report any measure relating to suffrage. But the caucus has taken no such action regarding prohibition and the committee on rules will be at liberty to provide a day for considering prohibition. But they will not be able to do that without a strong fight on the part of the suffragists.

Prohibition Is Strong.

That prohibition has strong support in the house of representatives there can be no question. A few years ago when a drastic measure controlling liquor dealing was before the house, it took the finest kind of work and fine manipulation to prevent a direct vote in favor of prohibition for the District of Columbia and if such a vote had been taken it was almost sure that it would have carried in the house of representatives and probably in the senate.

Of course national prohibition is another thing, and members would hesitate to vote for a national measure, although they would be willing to try it on the city of Washington. Besides, it requires a two-thirds vote to pass the Holston resolution, and it is doubtful if any such majority could be obtained.

SENATOR BRADLEY.

Kentuckian Will Retire at Close of His First Term.

BRADLEY NOT A CANDIDATE

Senator From Kentucky Says Health
Will Not Permit It.

Washington, May 15.—Senator Bradley of Kentucky, Republican, announced that because of ill health he will not be a candidate for re-election. "I am unable to bear the hardship of a campaign," he said. The senator is serving his first term, which ends next March.

SENATORS WRANGLE
OVER PRAIRIE DOGSLively Tilt Over Item in Agricultural Bill.

Washington, May 15.—Prairie dogs stirred up more trouble in the senate than tariff, currency, tolls or woman suffrage had done in the entire session. Before the flurry was over one senator had denounced another as "falsifier" and Democrats had been accused of converting the party's economic pledge into a satire.

It all came about by Senator Ashurst being absent from the senate when it agreed to a $125,000 item in the agricultural appropriation bill for investigating noxious farm animals. He asked for a reconsideration so he might insert a $5,000 increase for an investigation for the methods of exterminating the prairie dog, which he said had uprooted whole townships in Arizona.

Senator Bristow remarked that an appropriation for the extermination of the prairie dogs is asinine because every farmer knows how to get rid of them.

"Everything I do seems asinine to the senator from Kansas," retorted Senator Ashurst.

For a minute the storm promised to pass over, but Senator Gronna, answering a remark of Senator Bristow, started it anew by declaring, with some heat, that certain senators try to be facetious about everything.

"I am not in favor of calling out the army and navy to exterminate the prairie dog," Senator Bristow replied.

"This thing looks to me like a strained effort to get an appropriation to give somebody some jobs."

WOMEN AGREE TO BE MODEST

Fifteen Thousand in Cleveland Pledge
Against Present Styles.

Cleveland, O., May 15.—Fifteen thousand Cleveland women are pledged against present day modes of attire and will adhere to the principle of modest dress.

Representatives of fifty women's clubs in the Cleveland federation voted unanimously to encourage American designers and manufacturers of women's garments to return to modest styles.

The movement, endorsed by the general Federation of Women's Clubs, will be nationwide.

Governor Edward F. Dunne of Illinois will speak on another phase of the same subject. It was also announced that Governor F. M. Byrne of South Dakota will address the conference. Governor S. V. Stewart of Montana will read a twenty-minute paper on the subject of extradition.

FAVORS WATER POWER BILL

House Reports on Administration Measure.

Washington, May 15.—The administration water power bill was reported favorably by the house public lands committee. It would authorize the secretary of the interior to grant leases for water power rights on the public domain, fixing royalties and imposing restrictions to prevent monopoly.

In states which have no public utility commissions the secretary would be empowered to make regulations to insure fair rates to consumers.

Ore Running as High as $10 a Ton
Used in Business Streets.

Victor, Colo., May 15.—Business streets of Victor are now literally paved with gold. They have been surfaced with more than 700 loads of ore, crushed to a suitable size, which runs as high as $10 a ton in gold.

The ore was used because it was really cheaper than it would have been to haul nonmineral rock from a greater distance.

COLLEGE CASHIER IS SHORT

Discrepancy in Books at University of California.

San Francisco, May 15.—An apparent shortage of about $10,000 has been uncovered in the books of Harry L. Wright, cashier of the University of California for the last eight years, and a trusted employee in the comptroller's office for sixteen years. Unlucky real estate speculation is said to be the cause.

DENY STORIES OF LOOTING

Militia Officers Testify at Trial of Major Hamreck.

Denver, May 15.—Rifle fire was turned directly upon the Ludlow tent colony by state troops late on the afternoon of April 20, after the battle had been in progress for several hours and after strikers in the colony had fired upon the soldiers, Captain T. C. Linderfelt and Lieutenant M. C. Bigelow testified at the trial of Major Patrick J. Hamreck before the general courtmartial.

Immediately following, both Linderfelt and Bigelow declared, fire broke out at the extreme southwest corner of the colony and, fanned by a high west wind and scattered by numerous explosions, spread to every quarter of the tent city. Both swore positively that no soldiers entered the colony until after the fires started and that there was no looting.

NEGRO MAN-GIRL IS SUED

Creditors of Cora Anderson Say Marriage Is Valid.

Milwaukee, May 15.—Various creditors of Cora Anderson, the negroess who posed as Ralph Kierulow here for several years and who was exposed when she married Dorothy Kienowski, may force a new ruling on the Wisconsin marriage statutes.

It is alleged that groceries and house furnishings were sold to Mamie White under the name of Mrs. Kierulow. Cora Anderson and Miss White lived as man and wife before Kierulow's wedding to Miss Kienowski. Creditors set up the claim that the common law marriage was valid.

Cora Anderson is the daughter of a negro barber at Kendallville, Ind. Her mother was an Indian.

ASSURED OF SUCCESS
W. E. Verity, Campaign Manager of H. J. Maxfield, Believes Latter Will be Elected

The congressional campaign was brought to local attention Wednesday by the visit to the city of W. E. Verity, manager for H. J. Maxfield, of Wadena, who is contesting for the republican nomination, with good chances of success. While here Mr. Verity called upon a number of Brainerd people and says that he found much here to encourage the Maxfield forces. He declares that throughout the district there is a general disposition to bring about a change in the hope of securing a congressman who is more efficient. In fact, according to Mr. Verity, the real issue of the Sixth district congressional campaign is "efficiency."

To the Dispatch Mr. Verity said: "There is a disposition on the part of the opposition to Mr. Maxfield to insist that they are possessors of the only genuine red painted band wagon in the district. To bolster up this idea they are dwelling much upon the claim set up for Congressman Lindbergh by the Park Rapids Enterprise, that it is an impossibility to wipe out a majority of 23,000 which it alleged belonged to Mr. Lindbergh in the last campaign. We are disposing of this nonsense by simply quoting the figures of the returns of the last election which show that in 1912 Mr. Lindbergh received in the district a total of $21,286 votes. Opposed to him were Gilkinson democratic, and Uhl socialist, who secured a total of 12,759 votes, leaving Lindbergh a margin of 8,527. But it must be remembered that the recent reapportionment cut from the district the counties of Douglas, Meeker and Wright, all Lindbergh strongholds. In the counties, in 1912 Mr. Lindbergh received 7,046 votes, as compared with 2,847 cast for Gilkinson and Uhl, which leaves a net majority for Lindbergh in the counties left in the district of only 4,428.

Maxfield's great popularity and his ability as a campaigner will easily cut that little majority down to the zero point. It is a well known fact that Lindbergh is trying to so word his campaign appeals that he will receive votes generally from members of all parties. He has been quite successful in doing this in the past, but the time has come when you can no longer fool the people in that manner. A candidate for congress this year will have to stand for something very definite. He will not be permitted to ride two or three political steeds at one time."

This feature is a superb picture telling a story of tender and intense human interest. The settings are beyond praise. One of its greatest merits consists of its winning the sympathy of the audience from start to finish. The acting is strong and natural and much above the average. A vivid blending of intrigue, romance and red blooded action that knocks at the very door of your heart. The whole story with its national settings seems to breath with real life.

NIGHT LIKE DAY ON PANAMA CANAL

Wonderful Lighting System Now Being Installed.

NEW TYPE FLASHING LIGHTS

Illuminated Buoys, Beacons and Range Towers Will Allow Continuous Passage of Ships—Sun Will Control Gas—Its Flow to Be Regulated by the Solar Heat.

The lighting system now being installed in and along the Panama canal is so complete as practically to render night into day, so far as the great interoceanic waterway is concerned. In the Navy, the organ of the Navy League of the United States, is a description of the wonderful system of lights that is being installed.

"The completed Panama canal," says the Navy, "has been called a new wonder of the world. It is more than that. It is a combination of wonders united in one vast whole. Not least among these wonders is the system of lighting which has been installed throughout the entire length of the waterway to enable vessels to utilize night as well as day in their passage.

"The contract provided for the installation of fifty-seven complete light buoys of the shape, size and dimensions specified by the Isthmian canal commission, together with installations in some of the beacons and range towers.

Acetylene Lighted Buoys.

According to the Panama canal is lighted throughout by automatic unattended lights, each having a distinctive characteristic. At the entrances and through the Gatun lake the channel is marked by a double row of automatic acetylene lighted buoys. The channel is further defined by powerful, rapid flashing range lights, one set at either end of each successive tangent. Through the Culebra cut, or wherever the proximity of the banks permits, beacons will be used instead of buoys.

"The illumination used is dissolved acetylene—that is, acetylene under pressure dissolved in a tank filled with a special porous mass and acetone. Acetone has a solvent capacity of twenty-five times its own volume per atmosphere of pressure. The acetylene storing capacity of the tank is accordingly ten times its own volume for each atmosphere of pressure. Therefore at a pressure of ten atmospheres a tank contains 100 times its own volume of acetylene. Two or more of these tanks are attached to each buoy or installation.

"The gas released from the tanks passes through a governor or reducing chamber and from there into the flashing chamber and then passes through a pipe to the main burner, where it is ignited by a constantly burning pilot flame. The pilot flame is fed through a bypass direct from the governor.

"The system shows an entirely new principle in flashes which permits the production of a very large number of separate and distinct flashes compared with the older types of flashing lights. This new flasher may be adjusted to give light periods of any desired time down to one-tenth of a second or less, alternating with dark intervals of any desired length. The principles of the system used are covered by the Dallen patents.

The Sun Valve.

"Although not employed on buoys, but on many beacons and range lights, it may be of interest to give a brief description of that ingenious invention of Mr. Dallen's, the sun valve. The sun valve controls the flow of gas to the burner, so that the light will burn only in darkness. It is actuated entirely by light, its construction and operation being based on the well known physical law that a body with a light absorbing surface attains a higher temperature and consequently expands more than a similar body with a light reflecting surface when both are exposed to the same light.

"A central copper rod coated with lamp black to give it the property of absorbing light to the greatest possible degree is surrounded by three copper rods that have surfaces of polished gold, which causes them to reflect light to the greatest possible degree. The lower end of the central rod bears on a valve controlling the flow of gas.

"When light is withdrawn from the apparatus this central rod contracts, the valve is opened and allows the gas to flow to the burner, but when light falls upon the apparatus it is absorbed by the blackened central rod and transformed into heat, which causes the rod to expand, forcing the valve lever down on the valve seat, thus shutting off the flow of gas to the burner. This automatic light keeper effects great fuel economy and increases the service capacity of the acetylene tanks."

Turning Lead Into Gold.

Professor F. Soddy, F. R. S., declares that it is only a question of application to change lead into gold. He says that while now we can only work with electricity at 100,000 volts, it is only a matter of perfecting the method to be able to work at ten times that voltage, when the baser metals can be changed into the more precious. In other words, electricity, when brought to its highest efficiency and application, is the real philosopher's stone for which the alchemists of the middle ages searched so long.—London Spectator.

His Hearse Was a Biplane.

During life Ivan Soponowski, a Russian millionaire, refused to enter a motorcar. In his will, however, was a clause bequeathing $100,000 to an airman who would convey his coffin to the graveside in an aeroplane. One named Fosoff placed the coffin in his biplane and flew to the cemetery, but he made such a bad landing that he nearly killed himself. Soponowski's relatives reluctantly paid him $100,000 out of the estate.

BEAUTIES MORE POWERFUL THAN BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

Fair Champions of Ulster Who Are Blamed For Army Mutiny.

Three beautiful women are leading the drawing room forces whose social influence is charged with being responsible for the violent conflict between British army and civil officers over the Ulster revolt.

These three dashing types of the noblewoman, with the Marchioness of Londonderry, are openly charged with sowing the seed of discontent in army circles that resulted in many officers refusing further service with the colors if that service demanded that the covenanter of Ulster should be marked for bullet and bayonet. They are: Flora, Marchioness of Dufferin and Ava.

The Viscountess Masserene and Ferrard.

The Countess of Shaftesbury. The Marchioness of Dufferin was a New York girl. She married the second son of the house of Dufferin and thereby became Lady Blackwood. At the death of the eldest son in Africa she became Lady Clandeboyne, countess of Ava. When the head of the house died she became marchioness.

Her beauty stood her in stead where the declining fortunes of the noble house left much to be desired in the financial direction. Nature endowed her with a soprano voice of no mean worth. She utilized it on the stage during a campaign to raise money for her charities.

The Viscountess Masserene and Ferrard is the mistress over 16,000 acres of good Irish land. She is the daughter of J. Sterling Ainsworth, M. P. Antrim castle, where she holds sway, contains the mace and speaker's chair used in the Irish house of commons.

The Countess of Shaftesbury, granddaughter of the first Duke of Westminster, is a famous beauty and a woman of force and initiative. She was lady of the bedchamber to the Princess of Wales and lady in waiting to the queen. From this position she resigned when Queen Mary expressed chagrin at the suffrage activity of some of her ladies.

The countess christened Shamrock III, when Sir Thomas Lipton sent that craft over to America in one of his cup lifting efforts.

Without the power to vote, hold office or bear arms this beautiful contingent has wielded an influence greater than that of parliament.

OMAHA REBUILT IN A YEAR.

No Sign Now of Awful Devastation Wrought by Tornado.

March 23, 1914, one year from the day when Omaha was torn down, a portion of its residence section gutted by the deadly twister and 139 of its people killed, the citizens' relief committee of fifty, named the day after the disaster, made its final report and passed out of existence. The district has been rebuilt, its more than 2,200 families provided for, at exceedingly low cost, and the city is in better condition physically than before the tornado, and out of the disaster a new Omaha spirit has been born.

The administrative cost of the work of the committee was less than 1-13 per cent, a record for efficiency. All told, the committee received and disbursed $420,583.

THRIFT AND THE MAN.

Self Help and Self Respect Allied to Good Citizenship.

Thrift is an essential and imperative part of good citizenship.

The man who sets aside a few pence or shillings every week or every month is not only making future provision for himself, his children or others who may be dependent on him; but, consciously or unconsciously, he is at the same time serving his country by helping to create a type of character which is one of the most valuable of national assets.

He is setting an example of self command every time he fights down the temptation to spend on some passing pleasure the money which should be reserved for a more useful purpose. And self command means much in good citizenship.

He is setting an example of self help. He does not wait for "something to turn up," but sets to work resolutely to improve his position in life by his own exertions.

He is setting an example of self respect. The saving of money honestly earned fosters that spirit of sturdy independence and confidence in one's own powers which have played no small part in building up the prosperity of this country.

In addition to the ethical value which I have endeavored to indicate, the practice of thrift by individuals has a material value to the nation. The security of the intricate fabric of national credit depends to a very large extent upon the reserve of capital accumulated by those who invest in savings banks and similar institutions.—Sir T. Vansittart Bowater in London Answers.

Shakespeare and Burns.

In a lecture before the Royal Institute in London Professor Arthur Keith, in an anthropological study, gave it as his opinion that Shakespeare was a descendant of the bronze age invaders, the true or round head people. This was a remarkable fact, the professor added, for it was this same short headed stock, spread abroad in central Europe, throughout Germany, France and Italy, which has produced the world's finest artists. Burns, he said, on the contrary, was a good representative of the long headed type of man. His skull was very broad and of excessive length and appeared to be closely set to the neck. It represented an ancient type.

Just Talk.

Mr. Flattie—You were talking in your sleep last night, dear.

Mrs. Flattie—Oh, is that so? I didn't say much, did I?

Mr. Flattie—No, dear; I said you were talking.—Yonkers Statesman.

In the News and Out of the Ordinary

A man on trial at South River, N. J., was fined $50 for taking a juror out to lunch.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, famous pure food advocate, says his twenty-three months-old boy speaks Latin as well as English.

Milwaukee girls have gone in for the use of face powders colored to match their dresses. Just now a lovely shade of lavender has the call.

At a wedding reception held in Cheyenne, Wyo., cake was served which was made for the wedding of the bride's mother thirty-two years ago.

An interesting feature of a communion service in the Oldtown church at Newburyport, Mass., was a set of eight pewter cups supposed to be at least 200 years old and certainly the oldest in the country.

TO WED ARTIFICIAL MAN.

Jan van der Blassbeck is bound for his native Holland. When he arises in the morning his toilet includes these "extras":

Find and put in glass eye.

Put on artificial arm.

Put on leg.

Put on rubber ear.

He is on his way from Java, where he owns a large glass factory. The factory blew up; hence the not all present state of Jan.

But in Holland is a young woman waiting to be his bride. Mr. Van der Blassbeck says there is nothing artificial about her.

Cash and Credit.

"You deserve a great deal of credit, young man." "Maybe I do, but I always have to pay cash."

HOW FRENCH PEOPLE CURE STOMACH TROUBLE

A household remedy of the French peasantry, consisting of pure vegetable oil, and said to possess wonderful merit in the treatment of stomach, liver and intestinal troubles, has been introduced in this country by George H. Mayr, who for twenty years has been one of the leading down town druggists of Chicago and who himself was cured by its use. So quick and effective is its action that a single dose is usually enough to bring pronounced relief in the most stubborn cases, and many people who have tried it declare they never heard of anything to produce such remarkable results in so short a time. It is known as Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy and can now be had at almost any drug store. It is now sold here by

AT WORK LIKE A PIT MINE

McCullough & Cheney, Bridge Fill Contractors, Excavating Hill and Filling Bridge

THE NARROW GAUGE RAILWAY

When Running Maximum Capacity it is Expected to Fill in 2,000 Cubic Yards Daily

When the narrow gauge railway was first laid in Northeast Brainerd for the operation of the McCullough & Cheney dump car line to fill the Northeast Brainerd bridge site, citizens of that section of the city thought the street car line had arrived.

Today busy, little dinky locomotives are bustling through the streets each pushing ten cars of dirt and then whirling back with the empties for another load. The narrow gauge line starts at the hill on the Holland land which was bequeathed to the city, skirts the swamp on its north end, extends down Pine street to Fifth avenue, thence to Kindred and on Kindred to the terminus on the bridge. The old bridge has been stripped of its last extremities and these, by the way, it was necessary to brace up in order to sustain the weight of cars run out on same and dumped.

At the Holland hill a big steam shovel is biting its way into the surface and the work there resembles the start for a big pit mine. If you have never seen stripping operations, then take the first chance you have and view the work.

The monster dipper of the steam shovel gnaws away at the bank, grabs a dipper full of soil, rocks, stumps, whatever it may be and dumps it into one of a waiting string of dump cars. A second dipper full fills the car. There is a signal from a man on the bank, the diminutive engine gives an answering tug and has the next car in line for the next dipper load.

There is a high paid crew, as usual, operating the shovel. There is a crew at work bolstering up the track and keeping it in shape to carry the heavy loads. Another crew at the bridge attends to dumping. The railway line is over a mile long, about 6,300 feet. At Forsyth and Fifth avenue is a switch. At Farrar and Fifth is a standpipe, the line's water tank.

Thursday 1,000 yards of dirt was moved. W. E. McCullough, of Minneapolis, superintending operations, says the maximum capacity is 2,000 yards daily, providing all things work well without a hitch. Forty men are employed.

CHURCH TO BE DEDICATED

New First Congregational Church at Aitkin Cost $17,000, Ceremonies Sunday

The new First Congregational church of Aitkin is to be dedicated on Sunday, May 17. For years the people of Aitkin have been working together with a zeal worthy of commendation and their efforts have now crystallized in a church structure worth $17,000 or more. It is a two-story building with a splendid basement.

The following clergy will take part in the dedicatory exercises, the Rev. Drs. W. I. Sutherland, E. E. Leshar, G. P. Sheridan of Brainerd and D. J. Cowling, president of Carleton college, The Aitkin minister, Rev. W. E. Hammond, is to be congratulated on his splendid work.

COURT ADJOURNS TO MONDAY, 3 P. M.

Shortly after 3 o'clock Judge B. F. Wright adjourned district court to 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, May 18, on account of sudden sickness of his family. All jurors were excused to the hour and date named.

OVER 600 MEMBERS

Chamber of Commerce Now Has Two-Thirds of the Necessary Membership

The new Chamber of Commerce now has memberships numbering over 600, about two-thirds of the necessary membership which George B. Irving set on having the new civic organization attain.

Con O'Brien said: "The movement has now progressed so far that we are sure of its success."

It is being planned to have an election early next week.

There is being prepared a list of names to be a permanent committee to crystallize the energy and enthusiasm now apparent and the names will be announced in Saturday's Dispatch.

Today the campaign for memberships is continuing unabated and will be carried on until the goal of 900 is reached this week.

IN DISTRICT COURT

Line Fence Suit Decided in Favor of the Defendant, Frank Hart

In district court the case of Murphy & Cook vs Ella A. Marquardt was continued by stipulation.

Pete Mandich entered a plea of not guilty to selling intoxicating liquor without a license. Bail was fixed at $100.

In the case of Ormseth vs Frank Hart et al, the jury found a verdict for the defendant and established the line according to the Bartlett survey. M. E. Ryan was attorney for Hart.

The case of Nels Hegstad vs the Northern Pacific railway company, was settled and dismissed as per stipulation, $500 being the amount. The case was for damages alleged to have been caused by fire from locomotive sparks on Hegstad's land in section 2, township 45, range 30. Swanson & Swanson were attorneys for Hegstad.

The case of H. F. Michael vs Northern Pacific railway was also settled and dismissed. Swanson & Swanson were attorneys for Mr. Michael.

Graham-Hartew

R. R. Graham and Miss Nellie Carroll Hartew, both of Deerwood, were married May 13 by Rev. W. J. Lowrie at the parsonage. Mr. Graham is a well known business man of Deerwood. The bride is a very attractive young lady and has a large circle of friends. After a short wedding tour to St. Peter they will return and make their home in Deerwood. The Dispatch joins their many friends in extending best wishes for their continued happiness and prosperity.

Theme tonight, "One Thing Needful." The morning prayer meetings held in the different homes have proven to be one of the most helpful features of the campaign. These have been held in different sections of the city. Some of them are conducted in a foreign language.

The attendance has been good and the interest splendid. Many have learned to pray aloud whose voice was never heard before in public prayer. There has been no song, no Scripture lesson but only prayer and every one prays.

The personal work done by the church forces has taught another most valuable lesson. Unless a man makes a "hot foot" down the saw dust trail for the door he will be stopped and asked to make a decision for Christ. The days of seven-disciple have returned. The people are being urged to religious faithfulness and the workers are putting themselves on record.

If there was no other outcome to this present revival the good done the personal workers would be a sufficient justification for the time, work and expense incurred. Only occasionally is there a word of resentment or irritation spoken to the workers. In nearly every case there has been the frankest willingness to consider the issue involved. Many have returned their sincerest thanks for the interest shown in them.

The theme tonight is "One Thing Needful." There will be a service Saturday evening. Sunday morning's service will be at 10:15. The theme will be "Growing in Grace." The converts are especially invited.

The Brainerd Dispatch will issue a special souvenir edition Monday. It will contain the pictures of the tabernacle, clergymen and evangelists. The sermon of Sabbath morning will be published in full. Sketches by the different ministers will be a feature.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Blake of International Falls.

The evangelist's theme for the service last evening was "The Unanswerable Question." He said in part:

If you were to propound this question to the wisest lawyer, or the most profound philosopher, neither would be able to answer it. Should you descend to the realm of the lost and ask the damned in hell, you would get no answer. Should an angel come down to hear it propounded he would fly away to heaven without answering it, for it cannot be answered.

This question is found in the second chapter of the epistle to the Hebrews, the third verse: "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?" It is because there is no salvation to the neglecter of salvation that there is no answer to the question, for the neglecter of the gospel meets the same fate as its deliberate rejecter.

The argument of the apostle found in the preceding verses is simple. God spoke in time past by the prophets. Those who refused their message came under condemnation, though the messengers were but

EXPLOSION KILLS 10 MEN

Detroit, May 15—Ten men were killed and three terribly injured in an explosion which today blew to pieces the plant of the Mexican Crude Rubber Co. Eleven survivors have been accounted for. The victims are mostly skilled mechanics.

men. How much rather then, shall not we escape if we turn away from Him that speaketh from Heaven, for God hath spoken unto us not by mere men, though inspired, but by His Son, the heir of all things.

First, then, the Greatness of this Great Salvation.

It is great because of the person of its author. Many a work is largely circulated and received because of its author's greatness. But God Himself is the author of salvation, not man. Man not only could not, but would not be its author. Man's choice is for evil, going astray as soon as he is born, as the Psalmist says. So we find in the sixteenth verse of the third chapter of John that God so loved the world as to give His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life. Salvation had its origin in the love of Almighty God. "Not that we loved Him, but that He loved us, and sent His Son to be the propitiation for our sins."

2. This salvation is great because of what it costs. At the head of a great bridge in the east is a monument on which is inscribed the cost of that great mechanical work. But it is not a cost in dollars and cents, but in lives sacrificed in its building. You will find the cost of salvation in the first chapter of Peter's first epistle, the eighteenth and nineteenth verses. "Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things as silver and gold—but by the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot." God bankrupted heaven to pay the price of redemption, for like the savage African chief whose anger could not be placated even by the white man by any gift of mere money or goods, God's inexorable law demands the death penalty as satisfaction for sin. It is His grace that made it possible and immortality to light through the Gospel. How strange that any heart could refuse a place to a salvation bought so dear.

3. This salvation is great because it deals with eternal issues. To begin with, it delivers from eternal death, sorrow and pain. You say you do not believe it. Perhaps you do not. There are some who have cut out hell from their doctrine, but after they have been there they will get five minutes' experience of the truth concerning this vital matter they will disbelieve everything else but hell, and spend eternity cursing themselves for not believing in it here, and preparing to escape it hereafter. Your disbelief in hell cannot change the fact for one minute, nor quench a spark of its awful fire.

"I think," you say—but I do not care a snap what you think. What I care for is what this old Book teaches as the eternal verity. The same Bible that teaches there is a heaven to gain teaches that there is a hell to shun, and it behooves us to give good heed.

You say eternal punishment is not in accord with the character of God. But what do you know about the character of God, since you do not know God at all? What we know about the character of God comes to us solely by the revelation of His word. He has revealed His love and you believe it. Without revelation you could not have known it. He has revealed His wrath, and without that revelation you could not have known it nor have been prepared against the day of it. But you disbelieve it, not because of what you know of God's character, but because you do not wish to believe it.

You ask why punishment should be forever and ever. Why should God permit sin at all? I ask. I, like you, hate the thought of hell, and also of penitentiary, gallows and electric chair. But who of us would say turn out the more than a quarter of a million convicts held within the walls of the prison of this land? Not one of you with your ideas of mercy and love would dare to do it. And if human government demands the exclusion of offenders from society, how can we expect God to rule the universe without a hell?

But not only does the neglect of the Gospel mean eternal woe. Its acceptance means eternal bliss. Yes, eternal. We would not have it less. We cannot comprehend eternity, and no figure, no matter how strong, can make up grasp it. If a little bird were commissioned to carry away the earth and deposit it yonder at the rate of one grain in a thousand years, his task would at last be done, though the time seem long beyond description. And should he then set to carrying away all the planets and stars of the heavens, that too would finally be finished, but eternity would be but begun. How can you sleep when there is only a heart beat between you and hell where you will curse God and yourself through millions of ages?

At the Columbia
The special feature for the Columbia for Friday and Saturday will be the "Strike." It comes at a time when most of us are watching the outcome of troubles in Colorado and should prove a great drawing card. A more complete description will be found in the Columbia ad for today.

At the Grand
"Lucille Love" tonight and Saturday at the Grand, also a Saturday matinee for those who cannot attend the evening show. There was never a feature film with so much excitement and sensation put on the screen in the clean, wholesome way as "Lucille Love." You will see tonight and Saturday Lucille trying to keep a lion out of her hut. Then again Loubeque burning Lucille's grass abode after she has just escaped from the lion. Lucille rushes out and the international spy seizes her. The natives, on Lucille's side, are at hand and she is saved. There is a most realistic battle between two savage tribes. Later on Lucille is in Loubeque's clutches where she has been deceived in making a trip to care for the sick. All through the two reels tonight are very wonderful.

Sunday night the Grand shows "Discord and Harmony" a wonderful strong three-reel drama, also the Animated Weekly on the Mexican war news: Indians christen steamer; mine disaster at Eccles, W. Va.; "Taps" for Gettysburg hero; a day with the suffragettes; fashions; society attends horse show; royalty visits Paris; Masonry's Knights, and cartoons by Hy Mayer.

CROW WING ITEMS

Mrs. B. I. Heath of Little Falls, spent Wednesday at E. L. Quinn's.

The Misses Hattie Hodge, Tracy and Della Kappel and Mrs. E. R. Young went to Brainerd Tuesday.

Mrs. Mary Schlegle is at Rochester where she is under the doctor's care in Mayo hospital.

We notice that the famous Ben Greet Players will put on "The Comedy of Errors," at the Chautauqua at Brainerd. That will furnish plenty of amusement for a week.

The Barrows Ladies' Aid met on Thursday, entertained at Mrs. Geo. Whitehouse's.

G. W. Young, Miss Fanny and Mrs. Carl Shanley expect to start for Montana soon. The rest of the family will leave as soon as school closes.

Mr. Kane and family from Brainerd, will occupy the house that they vacate.

Schools in this vicinity will close on May 29th.

John Chisholm, Sr., came down from Bemidji where he spent the winter, on Tuesday.

Plan to attend the Chautauqua at Brainerd.

ESDON ETCHINGS

Ruth Chord and John M. Sydness were married at Dan Chord's the 6th of May. There were only a few guests present except relatives. Rev. Walter J. Smith performed the ceremony. There was a bountiful dinner served after which the young couple left for Little Pine where the groom has a farm.

Mrs. L. A. Chord and Little Hester Garrison have moved into old Mrs. Garrison's house near the school house and are making ready for Mrs. L. E. Garrison and family as soon as school is closed in Brainerd.

John and Maud Hammett went to the dance at Love's hall Saturday night. They also visited their sister, Mrs. Coffield, and brought back a load of oats from there.

Miss Clara Bock is helping Mrs. Fred Bock most of the time lately.

OSSIPEE ITEMS

Miss Ruth Anderson and Mrs. Arthur Felerabend were shopping in Brainerd Saturday between trains.

Frank Shipka arrived from Sleepy Eye Monday to visit his brothers, Charles and Ed. Shipka.

The dance at Mr. Van Horn's was largely attended and enjoyed by everyone.

Mr. and Mrs. Linn Lougee spent Sunday in Crow Wing visiting at the home of J. W. Porter.

E. L. Young is in Brainerd at present having been called as one of the petit jurymen.

Miss Edna Clukey is visiting with Mae Mills.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather the dance at E. L. Young's last Tuesday evening was well attended.
